URBANA, Sept. 16—(UP)—A head-on automobile collision on state route, 68, seven miles South of here on the Champaign-Clark county line, killed five persons and injured three seriously at 2:30 a. m. today.

Sheriff Jay McKeever of Champaign county and state highway patrolmen who investigated the accident believed that the automobile containing Mrs. Loudon, Mrs. Whitmore, Kennedy and Strong was enroute North from Springfield, with Strong driving. The other car containing Bowers, Harold and the Zell brothers was believed heading South from Huntsville.

Three Not Questioned Authorities learned that the two cars came together with a terrific crash, which turned one around and upset the other. The three survivors were in such dangerous condition they could not

Veterans Fight Harbage's Suit

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16—(UP)—A taxpayer's suit brought by Arnett Harbage, West Jefferson farmer and self-appointed guardian of state funds, today threatened to close state headquarters of the American Legion.

Harbage filed suit in common pleas court here to restrain the state from giving $15,000 to the American Legion to send a band, drum corps and quartet to the national Legion convention in Los Angeles next week.

The state emergency board had appropriated the $15,000 and had given a voucher to the American Legion. The organization deposited the voucher in its bank and sent the Canton band, the Massillon drum corps and the Crooksville quartet to Los Angeles Thursday.

Judge Cecil J. Randall yesterday granted a temporary injunction which prevented the state treasurer from honoring the check so that the bank could not obtain the state money. The result was that $10,000 or $12,000 of American Legion money in the bank was tied up.

Paul M. Herbert, attorney for the Legion, warned that the court action would force closing of the state offices here and lay-off of Legion employees throughout the state.

At the close of a two-hour hearing, Judge Randall said "there has been a sufficient showing by the plaintiff that this matter should be held in status quo until it can be heard thoroughly and properly on final hearing."

Herbert argued that the Legion "carries on functions of the state government, such as care of disabled veterans."

But Mrs. Agnes Dickinson, attorney for Harbage, replied that "the Legion is no more a state institution than the bar association."

Precedent Followed William Evans, special counsel for the attorney general's office, said there was ample precedent for making such state donations.

All Chrysler Corporation Plants May Be Closed By U. A. W. Walkout

50,000 MAY LOSE JOBS

Dealers May Have To Wait For New Models, Firm Officials Say

DETROIT, Sept. 16—(UP)—A strike by United Automobile workers at the Briggs body factory was slowly paralyzing all Chrysler Corporation plants today and jeopardizing the jobs of 50,000 men.

Already, two Chrysler plants were closed, two more were running out of material and were expected to be closed today, and 18,900 men were idle.

Chrysler officials said the 1939 model Plymouths had been scheduled for display in showrooms throughout the country next week and unless the strike were settled at once, 12,600 dealers would be kept waiting for new models.

The strike interrupted the busiest part of the season for Chrysler, and it was attributed to the rush to get new models on the market.

Emil Mazey, president of U. A. W. local 212, said that Briggs had installed a conveyor system for the production of 1939 model bodies which operated at a rate "of which the men are physically incapable." This alleged speed-up and the discharge of two union men were the union's reasons for striking.

Speeding Denied F. H. Taylor, Briggs personnel director, denied that operations had been speeded. Company and union officials resume negotiations on the complaints today.

In addition to the 9,000 Briggs workers, the following were idle: 7,000 from the Plymouth factory here, which was closed yesterday when the supply of bodies was exhausted; 2,000 from the Canadian Chrysler plant at Walkerville, Ont., closed for the same reason; 600 from the Dodge plant here, where operations were curtailed; 300 from Chrysler's Kercheval Ave. plant.

The latter two plants were expected to be closed today. Other Chrysler plants threatened are at Los Angeles, Marysville, Mich., Evansville, Kokomo and New Castle, Ind.

Most of County's Field Corn Crop Put in Shock

About two thirds of Pickaway county's field corn crop will be in shock by the end of this week, farm observers believe.

Heavy rains delayed the cutting to some extent. Muddy fields did not prevent some farmers from resuming cutting Thursday. The work was resumed generally throughout the county Friday. All reports indicate a good crop. These very late corn has been damaged by dry weather.

Canning plants are nearing the close of the sweet corn and lima bean pack. The Esmeralda plant expected to complete packing sweet corn Friday; lima beans on Saturday. The Winorr plant will finish about the middle of next week. Ashville plant of the CRITES MILLING CO. will finish corn Saturday. The New Holland plant expects to run all next week.

Packing pumpkin will start at Ashville next Tuesday. The Crites firm expects to pack about 30,000 cases. This will be the last crop of the year packed by the firm.

Indications are that pumpkins this year will be small.

BARNES TO BEGIN WORK ON F. O. E. FOR HUGE SUM HOME ADDITION ENDED FOR $499

T. M. Barnes, S. Court street, Friday, was awarded the contract to erect an addition to the lodge home of the Circleville's Aerie No. 685, Fraternal Order of Eagles. His bid on the addition was $9,700.

Mr. Barnes said work will be started as soon as the removal of four rooms on the rear of the present home is completed. The new addition will join on the rear of the present building.

The addition will be of two story brick construction with a basement. It will be 46 by 24 feet. On the first floor will be a club room, lounges for men and women and the secretary's office. The second floor will be used for the lodge room and will have a kitchen on one side. Dances and various social activities can be held in the lodge room. Shower baths will be installed in the basement.

Plans and the contract award were approved by the Grand Aerie.

COUNTY HUSKERS NOT TO VIE FOR HONOR THIS YEAR

From all information available Friday, Pickaway county will hold no corn husking contest this year. None was held last year.

F. K. Blair, county extension agent, said no interest has been shown in a contest so arrangements have not been made for one. In a contest two years ago there was considerable controversy and the competition was dropped in 1937.

"If sufficient persons show an interest in a husking contest, it will be arranged," Mr. Blair said. The 1938 Ohio corn husking contest will be held on the 5,000 acre Orelton farm, near London, either Oct. 27 or 28. Between 30 to 40 winners of county contests will compete.

MANY MILLIONS IN GOLD COMING TO UNCLE SAM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(UP)—The U. S. treasury acquired $285,101,000 in gold from war-jittery Europe in the first two weeks of this month, as the inflow of foreign capital continued at a record breaking rate.

Treasury statistics disclosed that the federal government increased its gold hoard by another $35,000,000 on Sept. 14, bringing its monetary gold reserves to an all time peak of $13,420,565,501.

The wholesale flight of European capital to the United States, an unofficial survey indicated, has boosted the total of foreign funds either invested or banked in the United States to almost $10,000,000,000.

Decree From Prague Orders All Property Of Council Confiscated

CHAMBERLAIN IN LONDON

Prime Minister May Confer With Der Fuehrer After Calling Cabinet

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 16 — (UP) — The government has decided to dissolve the Sudeten German party.

The government has decided the party council must be disbanded and its property confiscated. The government also ordered the disbandment of its storm troopers and seizure of their property.

The government move decidedly crushed the entire Sudeten movement, in defiance of the support and sympathy given to it by Nazi Germany and Adolf Hitler's promise to aid the Sudetens.

Czechoslovak authorities issued a formal warrant for the arrest of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German party leader.

The German language radio reported that Henlein, Karl Frank and other Sudeten German party leaders had fled across the frontier into Germany a few hours before the formal warrant was issued.

The double blow at the Sudeten party, calculated to enrage Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, was delivered soon after Viscount Runciman, British adviser, issued an appeal for an informal armistice during the British-German negotiations and left by airplane for London to report to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

Warrant Issued at Eger The warrant for Henlein's arrest was issued this morning by the state's attorney at Eger, in the Sudeten area. It was announced that the warrant would be circulated to criminal police authorities throughout the world.

The government started last night the machinery for Henlein's arrest, intending to prosecute him on treason charges for issuing a proclamation announcing that Sudeten Germans wanted to "go back home to the Reich"—Germany.

There was no compromise about the government's attitude today. As it moved to smash the disorders in the Sudeten area and make plain its intention of fighting if necessary, the government took action to present its case to the world.

Benes' Brother to U. S. Votja Benes, brother of President Edouard Benes, left for the United States to give Americans a picture of the situation as Czechs see it.

There were only isolated, minor incidents in the Sudeten area last night. Two Czech soldiers were reported killed at Butzengruen, near Falkenau.

LONDON, Sept. 16—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain returned from Berchtesgaden today with Adolf Hitler's demands on Czechoslovakia and said that "perhaps" he would talk with Hitler again in a few days, after he has consulted his ministers.

BY WEBB MILLER BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 16—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain left for London today to prepare for a second conference with Fuehrer Adolf Hitler in hope of averting war over the Czechoslovak minority problem.

CROSSING GUARD, KILLER OF THREE GIRLS, MUST DIE

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Sept. 16—(UP)—Albert Dyer, school crossing guard, will be hanged today for criminally assaulting and murdering three small girls unless Gov. Frank F. Merriam orders a stay of execution.

Attorneys for Dyer had appealed to the governor for intervention. They had an affidavit from Harold Harby, one of the jurors, which said he had voted for the death sentence only after he had been assured by a juror that the trial judge believed Dyer "guilty as hell."

The judge, Thomas P. White, said he had made no statement regarding Dyer's guilt until the verdict was returned. He added, however, that he believed the sentence "just."

Merriam gave no indication that he might postpone the former W.P.A. worker's death. A few hours before the time set for execution, with Dyer already in the small death cell, the governor had made no comment on the case.

Dyer was convicted of attacking and slaying Melba Everett, 9, her sister, Madeline, 7, and Jeanette Stephens, 8. Their bodies were found in the Baldwin hills near Inglewood, Cal., June 28, 1937.

be questioned about the accident. Coroner Richard M. Brand of Champaign county and Coroner Austin Richards of Clark county investigated the accident jointly but said they could not place the blame for the collision yet. They will announce the result of their investigation later.

A motorist picked up the two women and brought them to the hospital here. Mrs. Loudon died on the way.

Ambulances from Urbana and Springfield hurried to the scene of the accident. Three of the men were dead when they arrived and the Urbana fire department took their bodies to the county morgue. The Zell brothers and Strong were taken to the Springfield hospital but Strong died on the way.

Mrs. Loudon was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson of near Rosewood. Mrs. Whitmore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ripley of Urbana.

nesday when 6,000 of the workers seized and held the plant four hours in a sit-down demonstration until company officials agreed to keep it closed pending a settlement.

Most of the strikers had returned to work only a few weeks ago after the seasonal shutdown. Union leaders charged that the Briggs Corporation had taken advantage of the U. A. W.'s inter-union turmoil to speed their work.

Martin Tied Up

Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, was unable to negotiate for the strikers because he is busy conferring with Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, C. I. O. leaders sent by Chairman John L. Lewis to attempt to restore peace in the union. The trouble resulted from the expulsion, by Martin of four international officers whom he charged with consorting with Communists. The expulsions caused a split between radical and conservative factions of the union.

COUNTY RELIEF CHIEF CHECKING STATE'S ACTION

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, Friday, called state relief headquarters to correct the classification of Pickaway county with 45 other counties in the state from which funds are being withheld for failure to comply with the new relief law.

Funds for more than 90,000 relief clients were withheld, Thursday, by Relief Director William C. Dixon. He explained it was impossible to certify these counties for state funds until complete financial and re-registration reports were filed.

Mr. Marcy said complete financial and re-registration reports were submitted by the county relief administration early this month. "We follow a policy of having reports completed on the date they are wanted," he said. They are usually submitted ahead of time.

Mr. Marcy said the listing of Pickaway county as not having reports on file was due to some error in Columbus.

EYSTON GAINS SPEED TITLE AT 357 MILES

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 16 — (UP) — George E. T. Eyston, the retired British army captain, today drove his big racing car nearly six miles a minute when he set a world's land speed record of 357.50 miles an hour over the glistening white salt beds here.

It was the third time the record had been boosted toward the six mile clip—considered the ultimate in land speed—in two weeks.

Captain Eyston's run today was the latest in the rivalry between him and his countryman, John Cobb, London fur broker, for the speed title. Both came to the salt flats this season with their queer looking power plants on wheels.

Eyston to defend his title and Cobb to lift it if possible. Eyston made the first new record when he traveled at 345.47 miles an hour. Yesterday Cobb finally got his Raiton car working to perfection and roared to a new record—350.2 miles an hour. When Captain Eyston got the news he readied his 1,800 horsepower Thunderbolt for another run.

for the reception I received not only by the government but by the people," he said just before he boarded an airplane at Munich for the 600-mile flight to London.

"I hope to have another meeting with the Reich chancellor in a few days, after I have talked to the cabinet in London."

Runciman Leaves Too

As Chamberlain left Munich, Viscount Runciman, British minority adviser, started by airplane for London from Prague to report to Chamberlain at the prime minister's request. It was expected that Hitler would leave Berchtesgaden, perhaps today, for Berlin and that he and Chamberlain would meet again on or before Wednesday somewhere in Germany, most probably at Godesberg, on the Rhine near Bonn—unless an explosion in Czechoslovakia ended all hopes for peace.

Chamberlain had planned to motor to Munich, along the beautiful mountain roads, and take his plane there. A motorcade of 15 cars waited to follow him. But a heavy drizzling rain, which had persisted since the moment of his arrival yesterday, caused him to go by special train. He left at 3:35 a. m. (Circleville time) and his British airplane plane—an American-made Lockheed—was waiting for him at Munich airport.

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, accompanied Chamberlain and his party in the 12-car train.

Chamberlain planned, on his arrival in London today, to consult leading cabinet ministers and President Edouard Daladier of France—by telephone—at once.

It was forecast that he would summon parliament in extraordinary session, address it and then meet Hitler in a second and probably final conference next week, in hope of averting war.

But for the moment—and for a long week-end—the peace of Europe hung by a slender thread.

Hitler Unyielding

Hitler was understood to have shown unyielding determination to press the German minority problem through to a definitive—and satisfactory—conclusion.

In Czechoslovakia, the government had moved to seize Konrad Henlein, minority leader, as a traitor.

In the Sudeten German minority area it was evident that at any time a state of virtual civil war might break out.

All over Europe, armies, navies and air forces—despite the lack of formal mobilization orders—were poised, tensely, awaiting the word to rain death over land and sea.

Aside from anything Hitler might have told him in his conference at Haus Wachenfeld on the Obersalz hill yesterday evening, Chamberlain had only to read his morning newspapers to know that on him—and Hitler—depended the fate of millions of people and of central Europe's ancient cities which the Roman legions knew 2,000 years ago.

Newspapers under the close control of the German ministry of propaganda, treated the Chamberlain-Hitler conference as a formality and concentrated on the Sudeten situation. They demanded immediate union of the Sudeten area with Germany, they denounced the Czechoslovak order calling 140,000 additional troops, they said the Czech soldiers were terrorizing and torturing Germans and that the situation had become unbearable.

There was no doubt, unbearable or not, that it was untenable, that it must be ended soon.

Nazi Delay Urged

Chamberlain had appealed to Hitler to make no move for the present; it was understood that he had made it plain that if Germany marched now, a war involving France, Russia and Great Britain—and most probably several other powers—against Germany was absolutely certain.

The question was whether it was humanly possible in the present impassioned state existing in the Sudeten area to prevent an explosion during the long days necessary to determine whether Chamberlain and Hitler can agree.

There was further question whether it would be found that the British and French views were so fundamentally divergent from the German view that agreement, in the end, was impossible.

Woolens Necessary As Mercury Slides To 64

Circleville residents piled on more covers Thursday night and searched through clothes presses for their woolens Friday as Fall weather arrived.

Highest temperature Thursday was 72 degrees. During the night the temperature dropped to 64. No rain was recorded in the 24 hours preceding 8 a. m. Friday.

The Scioto river was falling rapidly Friday. At 8 a. m. it was 2.15 feet above normal as compared with 4.25 feet above normal at the same hour Thursday.

They demanded immediate union of the Sudeten area with Germany, they denounced the Czechoslovak order calling 140,000 additional troops, they said the Czech soldiers were terrorizing and torturing Germans and that the situation had become unbearable.

There was no doubt, unbearable or not, that it was untenable, that it must be ended soon.

Nazi Delay Urged

Chamberlain had appealed to Hitler to make no move for the present; it was understood that he had made it plain that if Germany marched now, a war involving France, Russia and Great Britain—and most probably several other powers—against Germany was absolutely certain.

The question was whether it was humanly possible in the present impassioned state existing in the Sudeten area to prevent an explosion during the long days necessary to determine whether Chamberlain and Hitler can agree.

There was further question whether it would be found that the British and French views were so fundamentally divergent from the German view that agreement, in the end, was impossible.

Woolens Necessary As Mercury Slides To 64

Circleville residents piled on more covers Thursday night and searched through clothes presses for their woolens Friday as Fall weather arrived.

Highest temperature Thursday was 72 degrees. During the night the temperature dropped to 64. No rain was recorded in the 24 hours preceding 8 a. m. Friday.

The Scioto river was falling rapidly Friday. At 8 a. m. it was 2.15 feet above normal as compared with 4.25 feet above normal at the same hour Thursday.

Newspapers under the close control of the German ministry of propaganda, treated the Chamberlain-Hitler conference as a formality and concentrated on the Sudeten situation. They demanded immediate union of the Sudeten area with Germany, they denounced the Czechoslovak order calling 140,000 additional troops, they said the Czech soldiers were terrorizing and torturing Germans and that the situation had become unbearable.

FARMER VICTOR IN APPEAL FROM STATE'S RULING

Common Pleas Court Jury
Returns Verdict For
A. S. Tweed

FATAL ACCIDENT CITED

Commission's Decision For
$2,014.73 Judgment
Overruled

Verdict in favor of A. S. Tweed, Circleville Route 5, defendant in an action for $2,014.73 based on a finding of the Industrial Commission, was returned, Thursday by a Common Pleas court jury. The jury deliberated about twenty minutes. All signed the verdict. George P. Foresman, Circleville, was foreman.

The action was brought by the attorney general on behalf of Mary Hicks Scaff, South Portsmouth. Youell Scaff, her husband, was fatally injured in July, 1934, when a wagon on which he was riding was struck by an auto. The accident occurred on Route 23 north of Bell Siding.

The Industrial Commission made a finding in favor of Mrs. Scaff and the award was certified to the attorney general for collection. The defendant contended that he did not employ three or more persons regularly in the same business and was not amenable to the workmen's compensation law.

OHIO CITY MAY LOSE SERVICES OF WATER FIRM

Because the city of Massillon is $104,000 behind in its fire protection water bills, the Ohio Water Service Co., Massillon, Thursday, requested authority of the Public Utilities Commission to stop the service.

The company itself is behind on its bills because of the failure of Massillon to pay bills, company attorneys told the commission, which set Oct. 20 as the hearing date on the application.

The Ohio Water Service Co. serves Circleville. Circleville has all bills paid in full.

There are two types of chiselers—the seller who tries to make too much on his product and the buyer who tries to get too much for his money. I've often wondered what would happen if those two ever got together. I found out last Summer at my Uncle Skinny Flint's boardin' house. There was one boarder who kept eatin' and eatin' after everybody else had got up from the table. Uncle Skinny watched him nervously for about a week and then he went up to the fella and says, "I'm sorry, brother, but I'm gonna have'a charge you $5.00 a week for board from now on."

The fella looked wild-eyed and says, "For goodness sakes, don't do that—I've been half killin' myself tryin' to eat up $4.00 worth a week!"

OPEN LETTERS

TO ROBERT BALTHASER

YOUTH: The many Pickaway county young men and women who have been working with you in the Walnut Farmers chapter and on the Junior board are happy to learn of the scholarship you won this week. They hope that you continue your splendid work in the interest of agriculture. Pickaway county farm youths have taken many forward strides in recent years to make them better citizens when they reach manhood and womanhood. The work they have been doing on the Junior Fair board has been outstanding. The responsibility there is recognized. You have been one of the county's finest exponents of work among farm folk and you deserve the congratulations of your entire community.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CIRCLEVILLE PARENTS

DEAR FRIENDS: Why are there no parent-teacher associations in Circleville? Throughout the Pickaway county schools there are many active organizations, playing an important part in community and school activities. Crowds of 150 to 200 persons at meetings are not unusual. These associations are strong links between the home and school, benefiting pupils, teachers and parents. I realize that Circleville has more organizations at the present time than it needs, but parent-teacher associations deserve some serious consideration.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SPORTS LOVERS

FANS: The opening game of the high school athletic season will be under way at 8 o'clock this evening between Circleville and West Jefferson. Many believe that a new era in the field of sports is dawning in the county seat. Hundreds are expected to be present tonight when the referee's whistle signals for the initial kickoff. Many parents have sons making their first appearance in the mole skins of the Circleville high school. Certainly they should be present to cheer their youngsters on to success. High school authorities have done all they can to make the opener auspicious. City police have promised to cooperate in every way possible.

World At A Glance

Nobody seems to care a nickle's worth what the Republicans are doing.

Heaven knows that this has been a red-hot, not to say a vitriolic campaign thus far, but only one party has figured in its noticeably. That is to say, only one party label, the Democratic, has been mentioned as of any consequence.

Politically speaking, this year's primaries are tests to determine whether New Deal or anti-New Deal Democrats really ARE Democrats.

The Republican primaries are inconsequential.

In most states and districts the G.O.P. nominees expect to be licked in November by so-called Democrats of one brand or the other. Consequently the Republicans scarcely can be counted on to fight very hard for the privilege of being whalloped a few weeks hence in the polls.

CAN'T IDENTIFY THEM

It's a funny situation. I have seen plenty of campaigns in which the Democrats knew in advance that they would be beaten in general, but they always have been sure of winning in a sufficient number of ballwicks to preserve their party integrity.

New the Republicans realize that they are in a fair way to be wiped practically off the political map—save, possibly, in Maine and Vermont.

But wiped off by whom? Not by any opposition party that they accurately can identify. A Republican, with a few exceptions, is a Republican. But what's a Democrat? Lord only knows. He may be a New Dealer, who certainly isn't a Republican. He may be an anti-New Dealer Democrat, who assuredly isn't a Republican, but who isn't a Democrat either, if Franklin D. Roosevelt is one.

Either way one puts it the Democratic candidate (whether a "pro" or an "anti" New Dealer) appears to be in a majority over his Republican opponent.

And now, on the strength of California's primary, it appears that a third kind of Democrat is to be reckoned with—a "funny money" Democrat—pooh-poohed by the Republicans and referred to as "Utopian" by President Roosevelt. This "funny money" complex is liable to spread.

A LOT OF FACTIONALISM
Old-time Democracy is fairly well holding its own.

However, it isn't doing much better than to maintain a balance of power, nor is it likely to do more than that.

The New Dealers hate the old-time Democrats almost worse than the Republicans and the old-time Democrats reciprocate. Still, the New Deal Democrats hate the Democratic "funny-moneyites" as much as the Republicans do. Ditto the old-time Democrats.

The whole thing is so jumbled in the primaries as to mean nothing at all.

For example: Representative David J. Lewis, Maryland New Deal Democratic senatorial candidate, says he isn't the communists' choice for the nomination. The communistic organization says he is.

The primaries over, the inter-party fight will begin. But which party is which? Democrats voting for Republicans! Republicans voting for Democrats! Communists voting for a candidate who declares he isn't a communist! A "funny-money" candidate running on an anti-"funny-money" ticket! Make some sense out of that.

I hope that fans who become extremely excited will not find it necessary to stand along the fences in front of persons seated on the bleachers. You should be present tonight to help the Tigers win.

TO CITIZENS

FRIENDS: Circleville has been experiencing a series of dog poisoning mysteries, and I urge all of you to keep on the lookout for persons who may be tossing deadly meat and other foods into yards, hoping that pets will eat them. There is no more brutal and heartless crime than that of dog poisoning. Not only do family pets die a terrible death, but the chance of infants picking up the poisoned food is great. Just this week a little girl is believed to have eaten something put out for a dog. The child is recovering, but had there been more poison on whatever she ate the result might have been fatal. The poisoner, if caught, would have faced serious charges. A person who poisons a dog is without a conscience. Several months ago three or four dogs died within a few days of each other; all were believed poisoned. Since that time there has been a let-up in the number of canine deaths. And now it has broken out again. Any person who reveals the identity of a person who spreads poisoning for dogs is deserving of a hero's title. Please keep on the lookout for any person who might be trying to destroy dogs with poison. Remember, your child may eat something that has been poisoned.

TO COUNCILMEN

EXECUTIVES: Last week you placed northend street work at the top of a list of improvements to be completed as soon as possible. I am pleased that you realize the need for immediate repair in this residential district. One splendid step has been taken on N. Pickaway street with the repair and resurfacing project already under way. Residents of Montclair avenue, Beverly road, Guilford road, and other highways in the new addition have been pretty tolerant, even though at least one of them was forced to call a wrecker to pull his car from the mire during the last Spring.

TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

BOYS, GIRLS: Police Chief William McCrady has appealed for your co-operation in observing traffic regulations as a means to reduce the possibility of fatal accidents. He has urged you to cross all streets at the proper intersections. I believe it is pretty important that you work with the police department to protect your own lives and those of your friends. The city's safety corps is doing everything it can to keep the streets and highways safe for you. A little cooperation on your part will help, too. At the same time, how about you bicyclists checking up on the city's traffic regulations to learn just what you are supposed to do?

Why an Inflammation Is Our Good Friend

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THIS WEEK we are discussing the fundamental scientific aspects of the changes that occur in the human body in disease. As scientists are trying to arrive at the truth, no matter where it leads us. We are not necessarily trying to say anything comforting, or to assure ourselves that there is a cure for all our ills, but to look at life with a completely unprejudiced eye, as if we were not ourselves concerned in it at all.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Yesterday we discussed the fundamental process of inflammation, and we saw that it was essentially protective to the body. Today we will discuss another process that occurs which is not protective but destructive—the degeneration of body cells.

When a group of cells degenerates in a single area this defect can often be replaced. It depends upon what kind of cells are involved. Certain kinds of cells can never be replaced—nerve cells are the best example of this. When a nerve cell is completely destroyed, as in infantile paralysis, it can never be replaced.

There may be some apparent exceptions to this, but they are only apparent. Nerve fibrils may be destroyed and then replaced by an outgrowth of new fibrils from the central nerve cell, but when the cell itself is destroyed it is never replaced.

Skin cells, bone cells, connective tissue cells, on the other hand, replace themselves very readily. In the internal organs, what looks like a very good repair job can be done by having connective tissue take the place of destroyed tissue. Thus in the heart, when one of the small blood vessels gets plugged up and shuts off the supply of blood to some part of the heart muscle, (coronary thrombosis, as often reported in the newspapers), that part may degenerate, but if it is given time connective tissue fills in, and the heart as a whole continues to function pretty well.

Of the internal organs the liver is the only one that can regenerate its own cells. The liver is constantly bombarded with poisons which destroys some of its cells, but they are replaced by others.

Sometimes, instead of a local injury whole systems of cells are destroyed throughout the body. Thus strange poisons, the nature of which we do not know, attack the bones and render them soft, affecting no other tissue.

Hereditary influences may leave a congenital lack of certain cells. An example is in the strange blood disease, hemophilia, in which the cells which create the substance of coagulation are lacking. This is an important disease in the history of the modern world. If the good Queen Victoria had not transmitted it to two of her daughters—Alice and Beatrice—who were the grandmothers respectively of the Czar's son and the sons of the king of Spain, there would probably have been no Stalin and no Franco in the world today.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Ways of Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

READ THIS FIRST:

Judy Rogers, New York heiress, is looking for a job because her father has been wiped out in a financial crash. When her father goes west with her step-mother, her own mother being abroad and remarried, Judy moves to a small hotel. Heart-broken because Craig Denby, the man she loved, married another girl, she finds solace in the company of Ronald Birrell, brilliant young attorney from Tennessee, who recently joined the firm of her father's lawyers. Afraid of marriage, Judy realizes that is why she lost Craig. When she learns from her best friend, Marjorie, that Craig and Mary, his bride of a few weeks, have separated, Judy calls on Mary and phones Craig in an effort to bring them back together. A second call on Mary is necessary to bring about a reconciliation. Judy cannot find work and one evening surreptitiously goes to find herself locked out because her rent is overdue. On the day she lands a job at Dance, land as a hostess, Ronald tells her of an opening as social secretary to the wealthy and ambitious Abbey Boland. When a reporter spots Judy at Dance, she decides to take the position at Abbey Boland's home. There was much publicity and mystery over and she had exchanged dresses with another hostess who had admired the gown she was wearing.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 18

THE NEWSPAPERS carried a story featuring Judy the next day. They used her picture and that of the girl to whom she had given the dress. They played up the whole thing as a mystery. Who was the girl who had traded dresses? Why had she done it? Where had she gone? Was it Judy Rogers, or someone who resembled her?

Marjorie telephoned her, curious and amused.

"Come to dinner and tell me about it," she urged.

"I'd love to. By the way, I have a job. Marg, I'm handling a count and an heiress. I start next week."

"Not Abbey Boland and Count Philippe Alexis Von Gunderfeld?"

"I might have known that would give it away. Not many people are marrying titles this season."

"The Count docks tomorrow."

"Do you know him?" Judy asked curiously.

"I used to. A little. Maybe I'd better warn you. He has charmed the kind that men like to buy a five-cent apple, and he's got a profile that should be preserved. I had an acrobatic heart about him for a month a couple of years ago. I'm well now."

"He wouldn't waste one of his priceless smiles on me. I'm a working girl. But I'll ask you a lot of questions, Marg. Is dinner at eight?"

"Same old time. Don't dress. There'll be just the two of us. The family is invited out."

Walking along Park Avenue, after she left the subway, Judy remembered another night, much earlier in the autumn, when she had hurried down the rainy street to buy a paper. Once more her picture was in the news stands. Again she was a name to reckon with. It must mean something. Either no one knew how utterly devastated her father's fortune was, or else he was making a comeback, or the beginning of one.

She bought a white gardenia from a flower vender and fastened it at the round collar of her slim black coat. Her hat was a ridiculous small tilted plaque that held a flower bed of autumn blossoms. It tied behind her bright brown curls with a black velvet ribbon.

Half amused at the sensation her attempt to be a dance hostess had caused, she smiled to herself. She could write her memoirs—call it "Society girl on her own in New York"—and apply some really good reading material, she reflected ruefully. Well, if she won a prize in design, she could let her identity be known.

She was in a friendly humor when she entered the private lift that would take her to Marjorie's apartment. Still smiling, she rang the bell and followed the butler into the drawing room.

Then the smile became fixed, a painted grimace that didn't move. She was looking at Craig. He was smiling at her, holding out his hand, saying something.

She had put his memory aside lately. She thought he did not matter so much any more. Yet here he was, flesh and blood, broad-shouldered, tall, blue-eyed. He had

CONTRACT BRIDGE

TOSSING A BIG ONE

IT TAKES a player with foresight to nonchalantly discard a nice big king (note the nonchalantly split infinitive) or play it on the declarer's ace when a small card is available. Yet that is the only effective defense against some contracts, which require your partner taking the lead, instead of yourself, at some later stage.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South bid 1-Club on this deal, North 1-Diamond, South 1-No Trump, North 2-No Trump and South 3-No Trump.

Against this contract the spade 5 was led by West and won with dummy's 9. Realizing that East should be kept out of the lead, the diamond J was led and finessed. When it held, the diamond 5 was led to the A. The heart 7 to dummy's K came next and was followed by the diamond K. As the suit did not break, South decided to cash what tricks he could, so he played his two high hearts and the club A. To his delight West was forced to win the next club trick and was obliged to lead a spade, giving the declarer his needed trick for game.

Had West looked ahead a little, it would have been evident to him that the tossing of the K on the club A would have meant defeat for the declarer, if East had the Q, as then East would have been in the lead on the second club trick and could have come through the spades.

Traynor, Nerves Shot, To Start Ace Relief Hurler

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(UP)—The most nervous man in Boston today is Harold J. (Pie) Traynor and the reason is because his Pittsburgh Pirates are playing a doubleheader. Doubleheaders are poison to the Pirates.

Traynor ordinarily is the most nervous man in any city he's in but when his ball club is playing a twin bill nowadays the Pirates' boss is positively a combination of a man with St. Vitus dance, a jitterbug listening to Benny Goodman and a whirling dervish.

The strain of the fantastic National league pennant race is telling heavily on Traynor but it's the double-header D.T.'s of the Pirates which may land soft-spoken popular Pie in a padded cell over the Winter if he doesn't win the pennant. In their last six doubleheaders the Pirates have won only two games, blowing both games on four occasions and splitting even in the other two. The Cubs have won two doubleheaders from the Pirates, the Giants one and the Phillies one. The Pirates broke even with the Giants and the Bees.

Pitching Weaker
Pittsburgh's pitching staff is in such plight that Traynor has to call on his ace relief man, Mace Brown, to pitch one of today's games against the Bees.

Russ Bauers, the Wisconsin lumberjack who's money in the bank when he's right, but is too seldom that way, was expected to twirl the other game. The Bees have nominated Danny MacFayden and John Lanning.

There was a slight sigh of relief in the Pirates' camp yesterday when they bounced back from Wednesday's double defeat to polish off the Giants, 7-2. The victory increased the Pirates' lead over the Cubs to three games and dropped the Giants to fourth place, four and a half games off the pace. Jim Tobin turned in a well-pitched seven-inning game and the Pirates supported him with a 14-hit attack, including homers by Paul Waner (2), Lloyd Waner, Pep Young and Johnny Rizzo. The Pirates drove Cliff Melton to cover in the fifth with the score tied and two out, scoring three runs before Dick Coffman put out the fire.

Yanks Move On
Even though they lost to Detroit, the New York Yankees moved nearer the American league pennant as the Red Sox and Indians divided a doubleheader. The Yanks now need any combination of three victories or Red Sox defeats to clinch the pennant.

A two-run rally in the seventh enabled the Tigers to trim the Yanks, 6-4. Roy Cullenbine tripped and scored on Chet Morgan's single. Walker sacrificed and Gehring and Greenberg walked to load the bases. York's single scored Morgan.

MENTOR PICKS STARTING TEAM FOR 'JEFF' TILT

Two Hour Signal Workout
Winds Up Preparations
For Season's Opener

Even the weatherman knew Friday that the day was the opener for the Circleville high school football season. He brought cool, crisp breezes and clouds, but school officials, athletes and the hundreds who expect to see the Tiger-West Jefferson lifter to-night hope that those clouds do not bring more rain.

Game time is 8 o'clock. All available bleachers are expected to be filled long ere the first whistle blows. The ticket gate is expected to be opened about 45 minutes before game time to help clear the crowd so there will be no congestion at the gate. Season tickets, calling for four home games, are on sale at various stores displaying the necessary signs in the uptown district.

Lineup Determined
Coach Roy M. Black reached a decision on his starting lineup after Thursday evening's lengthy signal drill. At the ends will be Zing Zaenglein and Bill Heffner with Don Jackson and Rusty Owens for replacements; the tackles will be Art Rooney and Harold Hill with Tom Downing and "Two Gun" Hart as reserves; the guards will be Co-Capt. Gene Arledge and Bub Hays with Moe Harden and Jim Shea as substitutes; center will be Dub Nelson, Roy Birchwell as his aide; quarterback will be Paul Walters; halfbacks, Co-Capt. Johnny Noggle and Frank Woodward, and fullback, Marvin Jenkins. Backfield reserves ready for the coach's nod will be Floyd Birchwell, Joe Staley, Clark Martin and Nelson, who may be called back of the line at any moment.

Little has been heard from West Jefferson except that the team should be strong. The squad reporting for duty this year is believed to be a veteran aggregation, one that will give the Tigers a battle.

The Tiger schedule, as announced Friday by Faculty Manager Virgil Cress, follows:

Sept. 16: West Jefferson.
Sept. 23: Worthington.
Sept. 30: Granville.
Oct. 7: To be filled.
Oct. 14: Frankfort.
Oct. 21: Pumpkin Show week
(There is a possibility that a game will be scheduled for Tuesday of this week).

Oct. 28: at Greenfield.
Nov. 4: at Washington.
Nov. 11: Grove City, (Armistice Day feature).

ROTARIANS OF THREE CITIES HEAR PASTOR ASSAIL JAPAN'S POLICIES

DR. F. H. THROOP SAYS CHINESE WILL NOT LOSE

Island People Not Permitted To Know How Invasion Of Continent Is Costing MANY SOLDIERS CREMATED Circleville, London And Mt. Sterling Clubs Gather In Hotel

Denunciation was heaped on Japan Thursday night in Circleville by Dr. Frank H. Throop, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in Columbus, who spent 25 years in the Orient. "A vastly inferior people has attacked China and aroused that nation as it has never been aroused before," he declared. "Japan is almost bankrupt; China can carry on indefinitely." Dr. Throop spoke at the American hotel before a joint meeting of the Circleville, Mt. Sterling and London Rotary clubs. Dr. Throop was presented by the London Rotarians, who with the Mt. Sterling club members, were guests of local Rotarians. The merged assembly of Circleville and London Rotarians is an annual affair. The Mt. Sterling club, recently organized, was included in this year's invitation. Dr. Throop declared that in the path of the Japanese army no woman from six to 60 years of age is safe; that dreadful disease has been spread through China by the invaders; that China will never forgive and will never make peace with Tokyo. The minister told how Japanese slain in battle during early stages of the war were removed to Manchuria for burial and said that now the burden of disposing of the dead has become such a problem that the Japanese have resorted to cremation. He told of his labor in building a great church that now is being used as a crematory. "The Japanese dead are not shipped home because Japan itself is being kept in the dark regarding the true situation."

Victory To Mean Nothing

Dr. Throop declared that the Japanese penetration is along a very narrow strip and that even if Hankow falls to the invaders that the victory will mean nothing eventually. "I received information from a friend in China to the effect that one Japanese division of 20,000 soldiers was sent to duty guarding conquered territory and that today that division contains only 5,000 men, 15,000 having fallen before the Chinese, yet the division never has engaged in a single battle of consequence."

Dr. Throop in opening his address said that the Japanese are interesting little people. "They are the bantamweights of the world," he said, "and as bantams they are fighters, have been fighters from the beginning. The population of the country has been kept down by continuous warfare."

"The Japanese are imaginative. They looked at Britain's might and told themselves that what others had done they could do. So, they entered the race for maritime supremacy. Read the history of Japan and you will see that it follows closely that of England."

"Japan is another island, it is without natural resources and its soil is not fertile. It is densely populated. Place all the islands of Japan in the state of California and 12,000 square miles of California would overlap. Place the entire population of the United States in California and the density of population would be about that of present day Japan."

"Europe right now is in terror because of the decrease in manpower. Japanese manpower is increasing at the rate of a million a year. There is a real problem. No country in the world holds out to

U. S. Guardsmen Prepare To "Protect" Kentucky

FORT KNOX, Ky., Sept. 16—The military forces of the central section of the United States, represented by the Second Army, Friday began a study of methods to streamline the procedure of conducting a defense against a foreign invader.

The man, who 20 years ago as General Pershing's Chief of Staff of the American First Army controlled the operations of the St. Mihiel and Meus-Argonne offensives, victories decisive in bringing the war to a conclusion, was again in control of these Army operations. He is Major General Hugh A. Drum, Chicago, head of the Sixth Corps Area and commander of the Second Army, embracing all armed forces in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

In a setting made colorful by the banners and guidons of the Japanese any sort of a welcome. They have no place to go. Tokyo saw the need for expansion and took over Korea. Japan thought there was a place to send part of its population and eventually 500,000 Japanese did go there. But 800,000 Koreans moved into Japan during the same time. So, that was no solution, Japan next cast eyes on Manchuria, the garden spot of the world.

National Egotism Fatal

"Manchuria is rich in natural resources. Japan could have bought from Manchuria all the material she could use at a price much cheaper than she is paying now to govern the district. National egotism dictated the policy there."

Chinese as compared with Japanese are a people with long traditions and history. Too much can not be said of the Chinese as a great nation. The first educational program the world ever knew was in China. China is rich in natural resources, but they are largely undeveloped. Fully 80 percent of the population is rural. The ordinary farm in China is of but one acre. American farmers might learn much from the Chinese farmer who is producing abundantly on land that has been tilled for 4,000 years.

"China has produced great men such as Confucius, men whose memory the whole world honors. Pick out just one Japanese so honored. China is a peace loving nation, always has been. Right now, however, the military spirit runs life wildfire through the land, the fire kindled by Japanese aggression."

"About 80 percent of the land in China is owned by a few great landlords. Maybe the land was turning toward Communism that the Japanese say is their excuse for invasion. But it is certain that China is able to think for itself and would never be under the thumb of Moscow. One may rest assured that the Chinese would work out their own salvation and in an intelligent manner."

"China is too intelligent, too powerful to be defeated by Japan."

More than 100 Rotarians attended the session that opened with dinner at 7 o'clock.

THEATRES AT THE CLIFTONA

Glamorous or not, Luise Rainer is certainly at her most appealing in her current role in "The Toy Wife," according to many critics who have seen her at work. The new picture comes to the Cliftona Theatre on a double bill with West of Cheyenne opening a two day engagement Friday night.

As the frivolous, light-hearted and equally light-headed "Froufrou" Brigard of the story, irresponsible daughter of an aristocratic French family of Louisiana before the Civil War, Miss Rainer is in her element. The tight-waisted, hoop-skirted costumes are exceedingly becoming to her and she herself was delighted with them.

Over-acting, as Rainer sees it, usually consists of her unconsciously rolling her eyes too much, or of suddenly jumping from a low tone of voice to a high, excited one. She knows that it gives the mixer in the sound booth trouble, as it is extremely difficult for him to key his instrument to the abrupt change.

"I get too carried away," she smiles ruefully. "I must not do it."

AT THE GRAND

Poor little popular song... It has a short life, but a merry one. Getting a fine start, usually in a screen musical, it begins to mount in popularity until one unhappy day every band and orchestra on the radio plays it twice an hour and then—pfft!

Not so "Alexander's Ragtime Band," however. The first of Irving Berlin's matchless melodies is almost as popular today as when it first appeared in 1911.

His first success seemed to set the temper of Irving Berlin's future. A remarkable number of the 600-odd songs he wrote still are favorites with the nation's a war Black (South Atlantic states) re-enforced by overseas allies. In furtherance of this plan, the Blue high command has deployed its four armies. First, on the northeastern frontiers, Fourth, on the western frontier, Third, on the southern—while our Second Army is being concentrated in the central area with the dual mission of defending our central industrial system and penetrating into the interior of Black resources.

"The high command has attached a composite wing of the General Headquarters air force and the mechanized cavalry brigade to the Second Army to assist in the mission assigned."

RADER'S CLAIM FOR $2,017 GOES BEFORE JURORS

No jury cases are set down for trial in Common Pleas court the remainder of this week. Arraignment of prisoners indicted by the grand jury will be held Saturday at 9 a. m.

Suit of J. C. Rader, Circleville, against P. J. Burke, Washington C. H., seeking $2,017.78 on account, will be heard in Common Pleas court Monday before a jury dancers. Such numbers as "When The Midnight Choo-Choo Leaves For Alabama," "Oh, How I Hate To Get Up In The Morning," "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody," "Say It With Music," "What'll I Do," "All Alone," "Remember," "Blue Skies," "Marie," "Heat Wave," "Easter Parade" and "Cheek To Cheek" are on the request lists of many an orchestra leader.

These songs, as well as many others—28 of them, to be precise—stud the unforgettable musical score of Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band," the 20th Century-Fox American cavalcade opening Sunday at the Grand Theatre. Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche share top honors in the memory-stirring production directed by Henry King.

AT THE CIRCLE

There is a very high premium on villainy out in Hollywood. Karl Hackett, villain type deluxe, whose fearful portrayals have won for him the sobriquet of "The Bad Man of the West," possesses every attribute of the regulation "heavy". He is bold, ruthless and has a ferocious aspect which would strike terror into the hearts of the more timid souls.

Just now he is supplying the menace for "Paroled—To Die," Republic release which opens tonight at the Circle Theatre for a two days run, with the indomitable Bob Steele in the leading role.

During the shooting of one of the spectacular sequences in the new production, "Wife of General Ling," also playing at the Circle Theatre, the players who were supposed to be Chinese bandits and British troops were told by the director, Ladislav Vajda, to do their best to make the scene as realistic as possible.
